The Faculty of Economics (FEUC) <http://www.uc.pt/en/feuc/apresentacao>, created in 1972, is one of the eight faculties of the University of Coimbra, dating from 1290, one of the oldest in Europe and the oldest in Portugal.

Its first courses in Economics, launched in the 1973-74 academic year, were followed by three other first degrees, all four currently available: Sociology, Management, and International Relations.

FEUC has approximately 2,500 students, 130 teaching staff and 40 administrative staff. These, combined with excellent facilities, offer a very high quality educational service in an environment that is both very friendly, and academically stimulating.

How to get to here:

From Lisbon airport

By bus:

You can take either Aeroshuttle (CARRIS N<sup>o</sup>96) (<http://www.carris.pt/en/bus/96/ascendente/default/>) or a taxi (7-9 €) to the Sete Rios bus terminal. From the terminal, there are frequent Rede Expressos coach services to Coimbra which take about 2,5 hours (13 €): <http://www.rede-expressos.pt/default.aspx>

The coach station in Coimbra (Estação Rodoviária RBL) is situated close to the city centre and is a 10 minutes taxi ride to the conference location, and a good 10-15 minutes walk to the city centre.

By train:

You can take either Aeroshuttle (CARRIS N<sup>o</sup>96) or a taxi (7 €) to Gare/Estação Oriente railway station. Trains run every hour from 6 am to 9 pm. The fastest service is provided by the Alfa Pendular express trains (22,5 Euros), which take 1h34m to Coimbra-B station, followed by Intercidades (inter-city service) (19 €), most taking 1h50m to the same station. http://www.cp.pt/StaticFiles/CP/Imagens/PDF/Passageiros/horarios/longo\_curso/ap\_ic.pdf

From Oporto airport

The Francisco Sa Carneiro airport in Oporto is 11 km away from the city, so getting a taxi from there to the railway station is quite expensive (20-25 €, with 20 per cent surcharge in the evenings and weekends). The easiest and less costly way will be to take the Metro. The direction to it is signposted throughout the airport, so just follow the signs and take Line E (Violeta) from the airport to the Campanhã railway station. Metro trains run about every 20 minutes from early morning until after midnight. That will take about 32 minutes and cost 2,20 € - a Z4 (zone four) ticket.

Three types of train services are available from the Campanhã railway station: Alfa Pendular service (fastest yet most expensive) the Intercidades and regional trains. The Alfa trains run almost every hour and takes an hour to get to Coimbra-B. The second class single fare is 16,5 €. Intercidades takes slightly more than an hour and cost 13 €. The regional train service, which includes a timed transfer at Aveiro, takes 2 hours but runs directly to the downtown Coimbra-A station and costs 7,95 Euros. For the timetables, go to http://www.cp.pt/StaticFiles/CP/Imagens/PDF/Passageiros/horarios/longo\_curso/ap\_ic.pdf and http://www.cp.pt/StaticFiles/CP/Imagens/PDF/Passageiros/horarios/regional/coimbra\_porto\_coimbra.pdf

Please note Alfa Pendular and Intercidades run to the Coimbra-B station, which is located somewhat far from the city centre, hotels and the University (a 10-15 minutes taxi ride away). So, if you wish to get to the centre by train, you will have to get off the train at Coimbra-B station and take a regional train (free of charge provided you kept your AP or IC train ticket, runs every 15-20 minutes) from Coimbra-B to Coimbra-A. The Coimbra-A railway station is situated right in the centre of Coimbra.

Centre for Social Studies

The Centre for Social Studies (CES), founded in 1978 at the Faculty of Economics, University of Coimbra, is a scientific institution devoted to research and advanced training in the area of the social sciences and humanities. Headed since then by Professor Boaventura de Sousa Santos, CES now numbers 122 researchers, 48 associate researchers, 53 post-doctoral researchers and 64 junior researchers. Many of these researchers work on a full time basis at the Centre. Remaining members combine research with lecturing (the vast majority at the Faculty of Economics, the Facultys of Humanities and the Faculty of Science and Technology) or with other professional activities. The team of researchers at CES include sociologists, economists, jurists, anthropologists, historians, specialists in the areas of education, literature, culture and international relations, geographers, architects, engineers, biologists and medical doctors. The Centre for Social Studies is member of the Institute for Interdisciplinary Research of the University of Coimbra \(IIIUC\).

Over the past years, CES has seen its scientific activity expand to a significant degree. This can be noted in its increased number of researchers, in its academic progression, in the growth of research projects involving CES researchers, in the broadening of international cooperation networks, in activities carried out in cooperation with the outside sphere and in the vitality of its main instruments for scientific dissemination.

The research projects and international scientific networks in which its researchers have participated over the past decade confirm the dynamism of the Centre for Social Studies, which, in 1997 and in 1999, and more recently in 2005 and 2010, received recognition of its scientific merit when it was evaluated as Excellent (the highest classification) by an international panel, within the framework of the Evaluation Process for Research Units of the Ministry for Science, Technology and Higher Education. In February 2002, CES was awarded the status of Associate Laboratory by the Ministry for Science, on the basis of two central premises: firstly, its proven ability to develop innovative research on Portuguese society in its different aspects, as well as on current transformations at the international level, with special emphasis on semi-peripheric societies and those of the Southern hemisphere, especially the Portuguese-speaking countries; secondly, the Centre's involvement in issues of public interest, notably public policies and the new forms of regulation, the relation between scientific knowledge and citizen participation, and the legal system and the reform of the administering of justice.

The Centre for Social Studies is located in Alta de Coimbra, close to the Schools of Science and Technology, Medicine, Arts and Humanities and Law and to the University's Main Library.

Turn right into Calçada Martim de Freitas (the São Sebastião Aqueduct will be on your left) At the top of this Calçada you will reach Praça Dom Dinis, close to CES.

By train

Coimbra has two railway stations: Coimbra A - Estação Nova and Coimbra B - Estação Velha. Trains arrive at Coimbra B, and you can take the connecting train to Coimbra A (your train ticket covers this short journey). This is your best choice if you wish to get to the town centre. If you wish to come straight to CES, we suggest you take a taxi from the station.
